

Ling Kai, 8am

8am in the morning
called you to tell you I don't love you anymore
but you didn't really bother it was late and you said that you wanted to get some sleep then you hung up on me

8am in the morning
called you to tell you I didn't hear a word you said
but you didn't really bother
it was late and you said that it wasn't important so you hung up on me

Even at the very beginning I saw signs of something startling
In your eyes was the greatest nothing Gazing into an endless void

Lonely people and lonely streets Kept pushing you right in front of me I can hardly ever see We're just keeping company
I'm sorry so sorry so sorry now

8am back on my time
called you to tell you I don't love you anymore