

Linoleum, On a Tuesday

I got a message says that you wanna know me
That's how I know today it must be a friday
It's been a while since we were last wasted
Funny how you never call me on tuesday

I wouldn't like to say that you're not a good friend
But seems you're only around when it's snowing
Today's a grey day but I know that you won't know
I've heard you're far too busy powdering your nose

I'd like to know you
But when I see you, you act like
I'd like to know you
But when I see you, you always feel like God

Don't understand why I feel nervous around you
I can't explain it must be something that you do
Anyway you're a million miles from me
I think I live in a different world from you

I'd like to know you
But when I see you, you act like
I'd like to know you
But when I see you, you always feel like God

I got a message says that you wanna know me
That's how I know today it must be a friday
It's been a while since we were last wasted
Funny how you never call me on tuesday

I'd like to know you
But when I see you, you act like
I'd like to know you
But when I see you, you always feel like God
