

Lion's Share, Remembrance

i guess i always knew my days were numbered i guess i'm just a fool who lingers on sometimes i hoped to lead another not fade away like a sunset dying out

through all these years never been a doubt or a maybe there is nothing that i regret now and i never will right 'til the end i never knew although i wondered i never realized the day would come sometimes my heart is filled with sorrow to fade away like a sunset dying out through all these years never been

a doubt or a maybe there is nothing that
i regret now and i never will right 'til the end i remember i remember all that was surrender i remember i remember all that was surrender