

Llama, All You Ever Wanted

You set out to change the world
With the subtlety in your song
They're the same old truths
That you've been singing all along
But still your biggest fear
Is finding out that you've been wrong
It's all you ever wanted
Just over the horizon
It's all you ever wanted
I can hear it in your song
It's been there all along
You watch the rising sun
Holding tightly to your dreams
Knowing deep inside
That the world's not what it seems
But when you think you've hit a wall
It's just a mirror after all
It's all you ever wanted
Just over the horizon
It's all you ever wanted
I can hear it in your song
It's been there all along
It's all you ever wanted
Just over the horizon
It's all you ever wanted
I can hear it in your song
It's been there all along
