

Lloyd, Don't Wanna Know

I'm sick and tired of lyin' here and thinkin'
With infomercials sinkin' in
And I can't find my remote
I won't accept the terms of this surrender
'Cause there is something bigger
And I feel it here today

I can't just stand around and wait for somethin'
'Cause I know there is nothing here that I know I can believe
There's a lady on the television telling me
That I can find my destiny if I look up to the stars
But I can see that it's right in front of me
It's here and it's clear

(chorus)
I don't wanna know if the world will end tomorrow
'Cause I feel just fine
I don't wanna know all the answers on this earth
All I need to know is that You're always right there
That's all I need to know

Well I know they say they've figured out the questions
But it's hardly ever mentioned that they always change their minds
The psychics on the phone are always selling me
The future they can see for me, well they can sell to someone else
'Cause I can see that it's right in front of me
It's here and it's clear

(chorus)

(bridge)

Everything we know is nothing more than drops into an ocean
You're the only thing that never fades away

(chorus)
