Logh, Yellow Lights Mean Slow Down, Not Speed

The night is calm so lets go for a ride It's these simple things that keep us alive We left the children sleeping for all I know (now) We let the neons show us the way to go (way to go)

The night is calm but a cold wind blows Living is dying sometimes I know There's a bad unkind thing in the air tonight But we let the neons show us where to hide - alright
