

Long Since Forgotten, Around Again

Turn on the T.V. only to see it happen again.
Now I am wishing inside, this would come to an end.
One hundred, two hundred thousand doesn't matter to you.
As long as you're safe inside you'll miss the fire.
Sea is changing tides. See it all coming around again, around here.
See it all in time. You give speech after speech.
You're recognizing the truth.
Whatever happens to them can never happen to you.
So you can talk all you want and you can say what you need.
When it's all over for them you just forget it.
They will believe what you want them to.
Spinning around the complications until you get what you want.
Another pep talk makes you feel better.
