

Longpigs, I Lied I Love You

I lied i love you
the screw that nailed the final whore it comes as simple as a t.v. plot but not before they killed the villain off

i lied i love you
i'm buying everything i'm sold and taught like angels dipping into sin and love cause you're the queen and i'm the king dark is the moonlight that hands around your eyes i see your light

i need your light to keep me blinded i don't care what's going on

i lied i love you
to start the party with a bang but it's exploded in my about face of yours the cup of love you must have laced tighter with your heart strings and how the cliché stings
i see your light
i need your light to keep me blinded
i don't care what's going on

how can i be sure how can i be sure
how can i be sure how can i be sure love the only war love the only law keep me seeing red make me understand i couldn't put it down burns your greedy hands burn my eyes out so keep me blinded

i don't care what's going on the screw that nailed final whore but not before they killed the villain off bigger than the moonlight that crowds around your eyes i see you light

i need your light to keep me blinded
i don't care what's going on