

Longwave, Make Me A Believer make me a believer in your way time is all i got till that day tell me what i need know you i want to believe spit and choke and buy this in me paint it every time that i see only complicated without this without this i need break your spirit down in your confusion throw yourself into the final game ask for nothing more and no denial break yourself in two

it's all the same
take a look at myself through you try to get my head back in two every crack becoming holy, holy complete break your spirit down in your confusion
throw yourself into the final game
ask for nothing more and no denial
and break yourself in two break yourself in two
it's all the same
maybe there's a substitute above closer still when i can't get enough only for a moment once before i saw a face i opened up that door make me a believer in your way
time is all I got till that day give me final reason to move you I want to believe
break your spirit down in your confusion
throw yourself into the final game
ask for nothing more and no denial
and break yourself in two
break yourself in two
it's all the same
it's all the same
it's all the same
it's all the same
it's all the same