Lorien, Aurora Borealis

Like the steel cuts the cold When I am far away More and more I'm nearer My own destiny. This is the place where the light Fills the sky with magic And the sight of the night Is the most sublime. The fantastic purple flames Live in the vast Northern lands Burning our hearts with fire Making our eyes shine. Mystery makes me feel More real than ever When I am finally going To my palace. Made of ice, colossal, Among the mountains Everything is only mine When I feel the power. I have walked a long way 'cause I made a promise And I know that the wind Caught my desperate words. Under the fire, on the ice, Or in my last breath I will pray for my soul And for eternity.