

Lorrie Morgan, I Did

Something sad about a road hotel,
It's only meant to sleep in.

For me it's like a prison cell,
for doing time and thinking,
Bout, you and me and stupidity,

One word from you would bring me home, but there's no chance I'll hear it.

I sit staring at the telephone, but, I won't go near it
You don't want me and I just want what used to be.

Oh!, my heart never let you go, I did
Its paying for the things that we both know, I did

It always loved you, it's not to blame.
I'm the fool, who ruined everything.

Oh, my heart never let you go, I did

Punish me but not my heart, that's what I would tell you

I know forgiveness comes so hard, after what you've been through
I hurt, you bad, I'd give anything to take it back.

Oh, my heart never let you go, I did
Its paying for the things that we both know, I did

It always loved you, it's not to blame
I'm the fool, who ruined everything.

Oh, my heart never let you go, I did

Pause

Oh, my heart never let you go, I did
It's paying for the things that we both know, I did

It always loved you, it's not to blame.
I'm the fool, who ruined everything

Oh, my heart never let you go, I did
