

Los Lobos, Blue Moonlight

(Cesar Rosas/Louie Perez)

A hundred days and a thousand nights
In just one minute in the blue moonlight
Since you've gone away I hardly sleep
Since you left me girl, my heart can't find no peace
No peace

I was a man who stood strong and tall
Who could always run and never fall
Now I barely stand on my two feet
Maybe this could be my lonely destiny
Destiny

Can't figure out what's right or wrong
Don't know where this broken heart belongs
Belongs

Can't figure out what's right or wrong
Don't know where this broken heart belongs
Belongs

A hundred days and a thousand nights
In just one minute in the blue moonlight
Travelled through this life without a home
On these streets where I've been left to roam
To roam
To roam
