

Los Lonely Boys, My Little Angel

Written by: Henry Garza, JoJo Garza, Ringo Garza

I open up my eyes and try and realize
That you're gone from this world,
My little angel.

I'm filled with so much pain.
It's driving me insane but I wish that you were home,
My little angel.

And I wish I would have said
The things I never got to say.
My little angel has flown away.

They say that I have to carry on.
They say that I have to be real strong
For my little angel.

The days go by and by
And I know you can see me cry.
But don't let that get you down 'cause in time I will be around.
And I wish that you were home,
My little angel.

And I wish I would have said
The things I never got to say.
