

Loser, Down

Today I found out everything comes undone
My world is painted gray, dark clouds black out the sun
I need the deepest of wounds
The scars of my life never die
And what I feel the most, the pleasure of pain
The only thing that keeps me alive
It's pulling me under, don't follow me
'Cause you don't know where I'm going
It's taking me over and I can't break free
So don't follow me down to nowhere
Today I found out that everything comes undone
I want to close my eyes and go inside
To the place where I've become so numb
Ever since I got lost, I've been so far away
I can't find my way back
I'll never be the same
I guess that I'm to blame for everything
I'm so sorry, sorry, sorry
It's pulling me under, don't follow me
'Cause you don't know where I'm going
It's taking me over and I can't break free
So don't follow me down to nowhere
No matter what I say, no matter what I do
I can't give away all that I've been through
This voice inside my head
Reminds me that it's true
Every day of my life, I will live with this pain
Now I know how it feels, will this ever end
It's pulling me under, don't follow me
'Cause you don't know where I'm going
It's taking me over and I can't break free
So don't follow me down to nowhere
