

LostAlone, Predators In A Maze

You are the future wake me when reach the date
When we are together and I can love you to your face
The days are all torture we are like predators in a maze
Looking for us but we seem so far away
I am so lonely I hear voices I obey
Voices in my head takes a billion metaphors to say
That you are the starlight but cant you see that its impossible to choose the words
Dont wait up I will follow you
You glisten you reason
If you run I will follow you vision you vision
Open up your eyes and empty onto me the hurt
I could breathe the air into your lungs and make them work
And if we find love theyre gonna say that were unstoppable through musics eyes
Dont say that we are not enough
You glisten you reason on your own you are
You vision you vision
