

Lostprophets, I Know

today they asked me what do you always seem to find but though i could not answer and i've lost my way i could tell that this aint right the morning sunrise seemed to ask me why i try to find the strength in people who've never thought about a different way ooh

its just doesnt seem that easy

i dont know where to go i dont know what to be
i dont know how to change from being me i dont know what to say
at the end of the day
i thought that i'd lost and found my way ohh
im alright
all i know is gone

the storm's i've weathered you know they dont seem to be as bad if you think theres hope from here then theres a life you should now have i dont have answers and no questions spring to mind so here i'll end it up now theres no more signs and the roads are blocked
ooh

it just seem that easy

i dont know where to go
i dont know what to be
i dont know how to change from being me
i dont know what to say
at the end of the day
i thought that i'd lost
and found my way ohh
im alright
all i know is gone

(i see no reason to move on but i see no reason to move on) ooohh, ooohh

i dont know where to go
i dont know what to be
i dont know how to change from being me
i dont know what to say
at the end of the day
i thought that i'd lost
and found my way ohh
im alright
all i know is gone