

Lou Reed, Prologue

In the science of the mind there is no point more thrilling than to notice which I never noticed in school