

Love Like Blood, Lost

some things will never leave you alone they follow you through your whole life they will come back when you wake up and then you know that's the way it is they will show you that they still exist all your memories, all the good and bad they all shimmer inside your head

I don't understand this world anymore
I don't understand this world anymore

the rain in my brain is corrosive I'm lost in what I found I'm losing the ground under my feet so sweet is the stuff which disturbs the inside of my head kills all memories that I ever had when I come down again, everything is still the same

I don't understand this world anymore
I don't understand myself anymore lost my direction, broke all connections

I don't understand this world anymore
I don't understand myself anymore