

Lovedrug, Panicked Witness

There's a place where
All the eyes roll back
And the thistle grows
Where the rain stops
When you want it to
And the whales don't die
It's a place where
All the walls will sleep
And the crow saves lives
There are no graveyards
And all the water's warm
And the cripples fly
Choose your words carefully
They might be your last
Choose your words carefully
They might be your last
Then a boy came
With the blackest thumb
And he just cried wolf
A panicked witness
With his eyes so wide
Might just recognize
Choose your words carefully
They might be your last
Choose your words carefully
They might be your last
Let me out
Push me down the blackest river
And I won't complain at all
Let me out
Push me down the blackest river
And I won't complain at all
Let me out
Push me down the blackest river
And I won't complain at all
Let me out
Push me down the blackest river
And I won't complain at all