

Low, California

See your reflection in the mire
You keep your revelations wide
They knew just where to draw the line