

Low, Your Poison

I've spent a lot of time

Good people

Trying to make it rhyme

Good people

It gave my mind a little place to hide

If you don't like my lines

Good people

You better open wide

Good people

Call the chief, it has become my belief that your tongue is the weapon

You cut what you reap with your poison

Your poison

Your poison

Your poison