

Lower Than Atlantis, Emily

Alarm clock rings, another day in hell begins
I'm going out of my mind, until she walks in
They say love is blind, but my vision is fine
Angels sing, when I look in her eyes

I'm like, Emily, won't you sit next to me
You've got such a pretty face, I'm a waste of space
But a boy can dream
It sucks, you're cool and I'm not
But they say, every dog gets its day
No chance at all, I guess I'm barking up the wrong tree anyway.

I'm like a dog in heat, and I'm on a short lead
We never play the same games, because you're out of my league
You don't even know my name, but you see me every day
I must be invisible, I just wish that I could say...

Emily, won't you sit next to me
You've got such a pretty face, I'm a waste of space
But a boy can dream
It sucks, you're cool and I'm not
But they say, every dog gets its day
No chance at all, I guess I'm barking up the wrong tree anyway

Emily, won't you sit next to me
Such a pretty face, I'm a waste of space
But a boy can dream

Emily, won't you sit next to me
You've got such a pretty face, I'm a waste of space
But a boy can dream
It sucks, you're cool and I'm not
But they say, every dog gets its day
No chance at all, I guess I'm barking up the wrong tree anyway

I was barking, up the wrong tree anyway
I was barking, up the wrong tree anyway