

Lucero, A Heart So True

It's hard to lose a heart so true
Without a fight
I lost my little angel somehow
She might as well be in Texas by now
She sure isn't here
She sure isn't in my arms
I know she's in this god damned town somewhere
I drive past her house but she's never there
She's got a new boy, she's probably in his arms
It's hard to lose a heart so true
Without a fight
I know she drives these streets around here
But our paths never cross and she's disappeared
If I'd decide readmit, out of mind I'd be fine
I just wanna see her
See if she's lookin' for me