Lucero, Wandering Star

the bands are done i should go home all my friends left a long time ago the girl serving drinks is the only one i know i got no good place to go it's a wandering star that lights my way tonight on the city streets i call my home it's a wandering star that lights my way tonight i follow it 'till i am gone the streetlights fade and dissappear i can see the stars that are out here cross the bridge to the country roads i'll follow that star wherever it goes it's a wandering star that lights my way tonight on the city streets i call my home it's a wandering star that lights my way tonight i follow it 'till i am gone then i wander wherever it might roam the luckiest star to call my own and i wander 'till my hearts taken to rest and my star falls from the sky 'cause falling stars are best
