

Lucie Silvas, Passionate You

You might pretend that hurt don't apply to you
But I do know how you feel
You like to make me believe that you're fooling me
And don't give a damn about this now

But I hope no matter what you do
No matter what you choose
That you don't lose
That hunger in your life

Oh passionate you
Oh passionate you
I can see it now

I saw the briefest slip
A flash of anger with a single teardrop to explain
How your pain don't hide so easily

Hide anything from me
Now I can see that hunger in your life

Oh passionate you
Oh passionate you
I can see it now

And every time I look at you I see myself
And it tells me I don't ever want nobody else
You don't have to wear it on the outside every time
But I see every joy and every pain in your life

Oh passionate you
Oh passionate you
I can see it now

If I just can't see it now
My love will show you how you're so
So passionately you