

Lucky 7, Around The World Isn't Too Far

I know you never thought I'd go
And leave you here alone
December air is gone forever
I'm missin us together
So now the road will catch my tears
And hold me in its arms
Teaches me to be without you
Teaches me to miss you
There's been nothing worse then this drive
I see your eyes as the stars in the sky
So many words being left unsaid
This pen is startin to fall behind
Can you see me through your window
Have you bothered to clean the glass
Distance never seem to hurt you
It always seemed to follow you
And all of the things I had wanted to say
It's all been set aside until I see you again
These pages can't hold my thoughts on your hand
And the tears that i cried will be falling again
This car seems to be going the opposite way
Of the highway I take to see you again
These cities don't welcome a broken down man
Nothing beats the comfort of your bed
Speed of time, these days go by, so slowly
The road home is never ending
Slow down time, i'll savor the comfort of her arms
And the loves she shows with her eyes
I'm missin you I'm missin you I'm missin you
