

Lucky 7, One Track Mind

I watch the clock pass by she left me all alone again kicking stones down the street I should've listened to my friends She only thinks of herself there's nothing left for me to do I can't uncross my heart I can't convince myself to choose

So out of touch can't wipe the stars from my eyes but I hope that this time affectations will be realized

She's got a one track mind and now it's leaving me behind her one track mind still I'll love her 'til the day I die

So I wrote them down all the words I could say to you just to tear them up decided to ignore the truth