

Luddite Clone, Circle Template

We are an experiment programmable shells lab at breeders hold the water bottle humans push the pellets three miles with the turning signal on we are looking for our tails riding on the track of the circle template running on the wheel with heaven on the horizon we are all programmable shells we are an experiment such an intricate maze comprised of a simple mind begging for the needle to inoculate the virus and eliminate the doldrums will you kiss the scientist or eliminate the spectacle