

Lukas Graham, Scars

you're not the only one that's feeling broken you're not the only one that feels alone you're not the only one that's feeling hopeless you're not the only one without a home let go all the emotion cutting you open

stop throwing salt you your wounds
take a second t breathe that might be all that you need don't you know
don't you know
don't you know it

we all got scars
we all get hurt sometimes
we all got scars
yours are the same as mine
we fall apart
we all get hurt sometimes
we all got scars
yours are the same as mine

you're scars are there to show you that you're human even when you wish thay'd wash away I can feel nobody understand your pain let go of all the emotion
cutting you open
stop throwing salt you your wounds
take a second t breathe
that might be all that you need
don't you know
don't you know
don't you know it

we all got scars
we all get hurt sometimes
we all got scars
yours are the same as mine
we fall apart
we all get hurt sometimes
we all got scars
yours are the same as mine

you're scars are there to show yourself you survived the pain you left underneath it all

we all got scars
we all get hurt sometimes
we all got scars
yours are the same as mine
we fall apart
we all get hurt sometimes
we all got scars
yours are the same as mine