

Lullacry, Better Days

Come with me and you will see our world falls apart
Wipe away your tears it doesn't mean a thing at all

Stay for a while and you will find yourself in an endless dream
Bitterness is born on the days like these
On days just like these

It's been so long since I've changed my ways
I know I've been saving up for better days
It's been so long since I've changed my ways
I know I've been saving up for better days

Come with me and you will find these feelings you can't deny
It's all I have to offer so no use to fight

Stay for a while and you will find yourself in an endless dream
Bitterness is born on the days like these
On days just like these

It's been so long since I've changed my ways
I know I've been saving up for better days
It's been so long since I've changed my ways
I know I've been saving up for better days