

Luna Halo, The Way To Your Heart

I don't know
If I have to shake you just to wake you
From this dream
That it seems you're living
And I don't know
If I could ever push you hard enough to move you
From the place your head is

You're living a lie
And I think it's time
That you realize

If your head is the way to your heart
Then I don't even know where to start
'Til you get up and walk out on faith
You will lie in the bed that you've made
But it doesn't have to be that way

If I could
I would summon up the past in me
So you could see the change before your eyes
And if I could
I would breathe the breath of life
Into your fading soul
That's lost the will to fight

And I know you can't go on
Fooling yourself
Pretending nothing's wrong
When you reach the end
Of your road
Where will you go