

Lunarin, Dry

I've fallen down to where you lay
And every breath you took was mine
I surrendered all I owned for just a smile
Broken pieces promises lay beneath your crown of thorns
Undecided at the cross roads of a storm

In faith
In blood
We summoned dust to gold
In faith
In blood
We caught the undertow

I'm dissolving into water
In tears
We wait patiently for it to dry

You lost yourself in your own reflection
I lost you to my own reflection

In faith
In blood
We summoned dust to gold
In faith
In blood
We caught the undertow

I'm dissolving into water
In tears
We wait patiently for it to dry

You said (it was a lie)
My eyes (suddenly dried)
And all of these (intentions can kill us)
Memories die

And our words can consume us
You said that it's a lie
You said that it's a lie
And you said that you'd fight these illusions

Our reflections emerges as we dry

I would
I could
If you would
And you should
I would
I could
Tear a hole
And look through me
In your own reflection
Finding me