

Luxx, Soul of Me

You looked at me what did you see?
Did you think I'd crumble at your hand
Arrange my mind for what could be
And to think I thought you'd understand

You assumed I'd come around in time
You put the light out and sent me on my way
In the end, I'll take what's mine
You, you, you taught me everything

Rip out the soul of me, the whole of me
You're scared of me, never feel anything at all
You don't know how to see the light in me
No face to me, you don't mean anything at all!

Tell your friends your point of view
But remember how you threw me away
When your story's told and your bed is cold
I'll be back to taunt you someday

Rip out the soul of me, the whole of me,
You're scared of me, never feel anything at all
You don't know how to see the light in me
No face to me, you don't mean anything at all!

Crawl down into that hole that you dug
Just for me now
It's my time watch me shine
Look who's following me now

Crawl down into that hole that you dug
Just for me now
It's my time watch me shine
Look who's following me now

Rip out the soul of me, the whole of me,
You're scared of me, never feel anything at all
You don't know how to see the light in me
No face to me, you don't mean anything at all!
