

Lynn Anderson, Ask Any Woman

Ask any woman who cares for someone who lives to love him and loves to live
And she will tell you that God has given the best at heaven has got to give
Someone to love each day to love him in every way
That's better woman's way since time began
Ask any woman ask any woman who loves her man
He comes home tired the world has worn him
And tossed and torn him in fortune's ring
Time to remember be warm and tender he needs your love now more than anything
So love him tenderly the way he wants to be touch his emotions with gentle hands
Ask any woman ask any woman who loves her man
[piano]
So love him tenderly...
