

Lynn Anderson, I'm Still Loving You

I know you know we know that I'm still loving you
Time won't erase the years can't replace the sweet dreams that I shared with you
I know you know we know that I'm still holding on
To the sweet memory that always keeps me still loving you
Forever for us was really as long as we planned
And I won't stand by and not try to save the sweet love if I can
So let's try will you try I'll try to meet you more than half way
And you'll find nothing's changed that I still feel the same yes I'm still loving you
