

Lynn Anderson, Pillow That Whispers

(He's gone no he's gone now)

As dawn meets the darkness a lonely night ends I cry the hurt seems so strong now

My arms just keep reaching where your head used to lay

On the pillow that whispers he's gone now

Echos on down the hall when I talk to the wall it would be easy to lose all control now

Cause here next to me where my baby used to be

Is a pillow that whispers he's gone now

[piano]

A fool is so lonely and how the tears burn I know I must stop this hurt somehow

I'm so tired of sleeping I've been crying all night

On the pillow that whispers he's gone now

Echos on down the hall...