

Lynn Anderson, There's Never Been Anyone Like

It isn't as though I've never been loved or never been needed by someone
Love's had its time in this life of mine
And that happiness goes without have some
I know how it feels to love and be loved I've had a moment or two
But I can honestly say I have never loved this way
For there's never been anyone like you
Oh there's never been anyone like you love and there probably never will be love
For I know I'll never find another love like yours and mine
No there's never been anyone like you love
[choir]
No there's never been anyone like you love...
No there's never been anyone like you