

Maaya Sakamoto, You're Not Alone

I've walked so long
I can't remember - where was my home?
Their distant faces fade away
I'm always on my own.
I can show a smile
It's not hard to do.
I can have the strength to go on
But sometime I wanna let go of everything.
When thoughtfulness is not their game
I teach by giving love.
High mountain seems higher endlessly
When they're pebbles at your feet.
And if you should still fall into despair,
There is one thing left to believe
I lie in your heart always.
Nothing is braver than honesty
My life is your faith in me.
I'll be there when you need
You don't have to hide from me.
What you are feeling now
I fill your soul.
We will seek together destiny
Troubles have an end.
We'll carry on hand in hand
You're not alone.
People searching desperately outside themselves
Caught up in thinking of whatever helped.
And I'd forgotten too that love exists inside me as in those I wanted from
I feel you now.
I'll be there when you need
We will live together.
Nothing is in our way
With trust in our soul.
We will seek together destiny
Troubles have an end.
We will carry on hand in hand
We won't forget we have each other.
Never!
Love is in the hearts of all men
You're not alone.
