Shadows are walking in
The darkness of a promised heaven
Like spirits in a dark and lonely castle
They are dancing at a song
Of a myriad of voices
With the stares lost in a
Secret dimension
Shadows are crying in the
Immensity of a gloomy night
Holding in their own all
Their consuming sorrow
They seem forgotten in the
Heavenly garden
Forsaken in the misery of a
Place without time
And shines the light of hope
In their eyes no more and no
Emotion will pass through their heart
Shadows imprisoned
Between dream and reality
In silently wait for a
Solemn recall
They look for consolation
In the pale light of god
In a kingdom in which all
Is eternal
