

Machine Men, Where I Stand

He was blind 'cos he thought he could fight back...
Reach the sky - be the man of his own life
Broken walls - made of sand so he had to build them of stone
Forced to change his future - write the fate again with the hand of a stranger
Be like someone else...

Sometimes i fight against my own mind
Sleepless nights full of fears of life
No place for me on this cold and strange land
I'm searching the answer from my heart - where i stand

When the sun took the place of the moon
All his fears disappeared - left this hollow man into his room
Gazing out to the light after a black cloud - not a storm before the fall
But the umbrella's full of holes

Sometimes i fight against my own mind
Sleepless nights full of fears of life
No place for me on this cold and strange land
I'm searching the answer from my heart - where i stand