

Madeleine Peyroux, Homeless Happiness

I sit here content my thoughts and my feelings
Remembering who I used to be
The life I have now is much more appealing
No hurries no worries for me
A bench by the shore a coat for my pillow
A future with no guarantee
The world was a rat race and I had my fill oh
No hurries no worries for me
Homeless Happiness
My castle's the stars and the sea
Homeless Happiness
If this door is freedom then I've found the key
The house and the car, those people around us
Were really for you not for me
We worked for the dream, alas all that bound us
Were hurries and worries you see
Homeless Happiness
My castle's the stars and the sea
Homeless Happiness
If this door is freedom then I've found the key
I'm keeping my word I'm right where we parted
My story is simple enough
Since I left behind all the plans that we charted
No hurries no worries my love
