Madeline, To Hell And Back

you hold your head high while i just put mine in the sand i could talk for hours and you would never understand and i ramble about nothing oh i wish that you'd hold my hand oh lord, i'm overcome and wanting what is wrong but if my struggle is a sin i'd go to hell, to hell and back again you are so beautiful when your lips start to move i want to be everything that you've got to prove i'd say something sweet but i blush and look at my feet

i'd go to hell-- to hell and back again i'd go to hell-- to hell and back again
