

Mae, Home

I've been sneaking out your back door since I can't remember when and thinking about the world I didn't know and how I wanted in but now I find I'm in the thick of it and feeling so alone I'd take the chance just one more chance to get me anywhere It's like I'm running down every road but home

I know I'm running and I'm moving too fast so here we go, oh
and where I'm heading to it's nobody's guess
so here we go, oh
so here we go, oh

I saw the map like any other would looking to find and follow lines that led me to question but I can see it in the symmetry it's what was really always meant to be this singularity is clear from a distance so I'm dying here to fall in love with home

I know I'm running and I'm moving too fast
so here we go, oh
and where I'm heading to it's nobody's guess
so here we go, oh
so here we go, oh

Staring into mirrors lost in my design believe in dreams and wait for signs you will always find me when I run away so I will not slow down until I make it back into your arms this time, oh

I know I'm running and I'm moving too fast
so here we go, oh
and where I'm heading to it's nobody's guess
so here we go, oh

I know I'm running and I'm moving too fast
so here we go, oh
and where you're headed to you don't have to guess
so here we go, oh

I'm headed home, oh
I'm headed home, oh