

Maggie Reilly, Mistake

It was a mistake under the weather
One shower's gonna turn into another
It's a heartbreak under the weather
Standing out in the cold

I wake, it's frightening
Rain hammering on your window
I hate sheet lightning
You reach for the telephone

Mistake under the weather
One shower's gonna turn into another
It's a heartbreak under the weather
Standing out in the cold

I pray for blue skies
Rain hammering on your window
On your way you wonder why
You're standing on your own

Mistake under the weather
One shower's gonna turn into another
It's a heartbreak under the weather
Standing out in the cold

I took him on the radio
You never know how to say
And the things supplied
That could be on your mind
Just to manage in a tragical way

Get lost in dreaming
Rain hammering on your window
Try to catch the meaning
You're dancing on your own

Mistake under the weather
One shower's gonna turn into another
It's a heartbreak under the weather
Standing out in the cold

I took him on the radio
You never know how to say
And the things supplied
That could be on your mind
Just to manage in a tragical way

It was a mistake under the weather
One shower's gonna turn into another
It's a heartbreak under the weather
Standing out in the cold

It was a mistake under the weather
One shower's gonna turn into another
It's a heartbreak under the weather
Standing out in the cold

It was a mistake under the weather
It's a heartbreak under the weather

It was a mistake
