

Maite Kelly, In the arms

If you put me into this world, show me the meaning
Show me the reason and who I truly am
Well, I thank you, I bow to you, you opened up my heart
You brought me here and through you, a life has begun
In the arms of my mother
In the arms through her beloved son
In the arms of my mother
In the arms, in the arm
How I wish I could kiss those wounds
Not just once a thousand times
Cause they've bled for every stone I throw
Still he never died, oh oh oh
In the arms of my mother
In the arms through her beloved son
In the arms of my mother
In the arms, in the arms
Despite it you grow into a beauty, I know
Its all cause of loving you
Despite it you grow into a beauty, I know
Into the beauty, I know, I love it all
In the arms (in the arms) of my mother (of my mother)
In the arms (no, no, her beloved son)
In the arms (in the arms) of my mother (my mother)
In the arms (in the arms), in the arms (hm hm hm)
In the arms, in the arms, in the arms, in the arms, in the arms, oh oh oh