

Make shift Romeo, The Morning After

There's just some things
That I can't explain
Like the reason why I
Make you feel this way
I keep on saying that
I am going to change
Now how could you
Believe a word I say

I wish there was some way
To see I never meant
To make you cry
If I could take back
Just one thing
I swear that I'd take
Back that night

Everything I loved was gone
The morning, the morning after
I wish I never woke up on
The morning, the morning after

And now it's all
Coming back to me
You say I can't believe you
Do these things to me
And so I guess I gotta
Face the truth
I'm no good for you
There's nothing I can do

I wish that we could make believe
And pretend that everything's alright
And I would give up everything if
I could just take back that night

Everything I loved was gone
The morning, the morning after
I wish I never woke up on
The morning, the morning after

Everything I loved was gone
The morning, the morning after
I wish I never woke up on
The morning, the morning after

I went I hold you
But it wasn't you
It was someone else now
I hate myself, I do
I wasn't thinking but
I should have known
Now its killing me and
I wanna be alone

(After, after)
(After, after)

If I could take back
Just one thing

Everything I loved was gone
The morning, the morning after
I wish I never woke up on
The morning, the morning after

Everything I loved was gone
The morning, the morning after
I wish I never woke up on
(After, after)
(After, after)
(After, after)
(After, after)
