

Man, Back Into The Future

Standing on a station waiting for a train
Children play at sailors, gentlemen at maids
Take your time and have a look around
Railway lines that lead off deep into the sun
People talking, lovers looking for some fun
Take their time and have a look around

Back into the future
Back into the future

I'll collect the ticket, collector's growing old
Rumours say the station is going to be sold
Take your time and have a look around

Back into the future
Back into the future
Back into the future
Back into the future