

Man, California Silks And Satins

California silks and satins
Rustling in my ear
Clutching softly at my laughter
Touching every tear

Burning slowly
Burning slowly
Somebody said that somebody saw you laughing

California whisky rainbow
Help me get to sleep
Thirteen hundred silver dollars
Steal but never keep

Learning slowly
Learning slowly
Somebody said that somebody saw you laughing

California laws and sunrise
Bend until you break
All the cars are drunk and sleeping
Sleep until you wake

Turning slowly
Turning slowly
Somebody said that somebody saw you laughing
