

Mar De Grises, Recklessness

Lets pretend my face is burning
...oh infinite,
just pretend your hand could touch
...my meaningless life,
would you save me?
Are you there?
In that grey horizon...
Where the sun sets (so) peacefully
Where the light drips down by my eyes...
I'm drowning in my thoughts
Yet no one seem to care
Can you see me?
I'm taking my black soul
Away... from this white world
Can you hear me?
Timeless sins
Will break me apart
Oh, but no one knows
Would you care?
This is a the torment
more that what you can see
Infinite has taken me
I'm on my knees
And it gets to me
Even if i fly for
Even if i run fast
Even if i swim deep
It still gets me
Even if my heart stops
Even if my tears remain
...undry
It still haunts me
Nothing that i'll ever do
Nothing that i'll ever say
Will ever matter...
Just tell me, why?