

Marc Almond, You'll Never See Me On A Sunday

Don't worry about me as ever I'm fine
Promise you not to get too hurt this time
As you say, there's forever as time goes anyway
And that's ok, that's ok

But you'll never see me on a sunday
You'll never see me on a sunday

Beware that lifes leeches will drain you right out
As they're blind to the soul and they're always about
Look at me an example of the soul cut away
Well nearly, well nearly

And you'll never see me on a sunday
You'll never see me on a sunday

Oh you'll never see me on a sunday
And you'll never see me on a sunday

Your ablaze with your dreams and don't cry if you fail
Coz like me you'll keep searching for some kind of holy grail

As you say there's forever as time goes anyway
But you'll never see me on a sunday
